Hello!

Congratulations for your participation in the ESPACE workshop! This book is filled with tons of fun activities. You can choose to complete them with an adult if you want to. Thanks to these activities, you'll be able to remember your rights and the strategies you can use if someone takes them away from you.

Don't forget that you have the right to feel safe, strong and free!

Have fun!

Dear parent,
Dear guardian,

This week, your child took part in a CAP-ESPACE workshop! In a group setting, we've had the chance to address different subjects linked to child assault prevention. This activity book contains exercises in connection with the notions that we've explored with your child during the workshop. You will also find, on the next page, a brief description of our workshops. This tool can be an excellent way to open a discussion with your child on the different subjects relating to violence while having fun!

We also encourage you to visit the CAP-ESPACE organizations' website at espacesansviolence.org, where you will find useful information to continue your child's education on child assault prevention. You will be able to view, among other things, the educational staff's activity book, which offers numerous complementary activities that can be carried out with your child.

May it be with your child or with other youngsters from your entourage, you are an important link.

Thank you for pursuing prevention!

DESCRIPTION OF THE CAP-ESPACE WORKSHOP

First day...

The ESPACE team talked to the children about fundamental rights that everybody has, both children and adults, in particular the following rights : the right to feel safe, the right to feel strong (inner strength, courage) and the right to feel free. With the help of a short play demonstrating a bullying situation between children followed by a discussion period, the children learned about emotions they can feel when they are confronted with that type of situation or if someone takes away their rights. They then learned about the possible strategies to take action when they go through these types of situations or even when they witness them (say no, ask a friend or other children for help, tell an adult). Finally, they practiced being able to say NO, because sometimes that can require a lot of courage!

Second day...

Attending a puppet show, the children learned the safety rules to apply when they are outside of the house and what to do if they meet a stranger. They learned different self-defense strategies to use if they find themselves in a situation where they feel in danger, if someone holds on to them and doesn't let them go (special yell- self-defense yell, hit, kick and scratch to get away and run to go get help).

Third day...

During the last day of the workshop, the children learned the names of the different body parts. With the help of short plays and discussion periods, they also talked about unpleasant ways of touching or being touched by siblings and sexual violence committed by an adult. They learned what to do when someone touches them in a way that they don't like or makes them feel uncomfortable. The last short play helped them know what to do if they are a victim or witness of domestic abuse. In all those situations, they learned that they can use the strategies seen during the previous days of the workshop.

Lastly, the ESPACE team reinforced the importance of talking to a trusted adult like their parents, a member of their extended family (grandparents, aunt, uncle, etc.), an educator, a babysitter, a neighbour, etc. The children learned that there are plenty of adults they can talk to if they have a problem and that these trusted adults are there to listen to them, believe them and help them!

If you have any questions, we invite you to discuss it with your child's educator.

If needed, contact the CAP-ESPACE organization of your region!
